CENTRAL STATES SWINE CO. AND THE CHESTER WHITE HOG.

There is reason to suppose that it will not be long before a selling campaign in the interests of the above company and the above breed of hog will be in full swing in this district as has been the case in the southern part of the province for some time. In that event, some features of the proposition involved may be of interest. Our understanding of the contract is as follows:

The Central States Swine Company contract to sell to their patrons, Chester White brood sows at a price of $105.00 each, also sowing to buy back from them any of the females from the subsequent litters which weigh 150 pounds at six months of age and which are equal in quality to the original stock supplied by the company, these young sows to be repurchased at a price of $35 each.

There are a number of objections to this contract which are readily apparent:

First—No sow of the Chester White or any other breed, is worth $105 unless of very superior type and quality. In fact, almost any exhibition sow in Western Canada of any breed, could probably be bought for this amount.

Second—There is no absolute written guarantee in the contract as to the quality of the breeding stock to be supplied and nothing to prevent the company from supplying inferior animals if they wished to do so. That is apparently their privilege.

Third—There is no mention made of who is to pay the transportation charges and 25% duty on the breeding stock supplied. If the patron is liable for this it will certainly be a considerable item, as such stock must be shipped from the United States, it not being available in Canada.

Fourth—Whether any young stock is repurchased from the farmers by the company or not, is apparently entirely in the discretion of the company. These young sows must, according to the contract, be equal in quality to the original stock supplied.

Who is going to be the judge as to these being of equal quality? Apparently the company is. Even though the company does buy part of the ensuing increase, at the price mentioned, it will obviously be only with the object of reselling them to other farmers for $105 each. Just where any profit to the patrons occurs in this transaction, is difficult to see.

Fifth—Whatever may be said to the contrary, the Chester White is NOT a bacon type of hog and is consequently not adapted to the requirements of the Canadian export trade. The Chester White is an American large type hog, was developed in that country and is now kept for the purpose of consuming corn and other fat producing feeds and producing a fat or lard type of carcass. The Chester White is a good breed of hog for corn belt conditions, is reasonably thrifty, prolific, early maturing, and an economical feeder, but is no better in these respects than our own bacon breeds, the Yorkshire and Tamworth, and certainly very few of them, if any, would ever earn the ten per cent. premium offered for bacon hogs on our markets. The extensive use of this breed would be a backward step in the hog production policy of Alberta breeders.

A new law passed by the Quebec Government makes it compulsory for every person to destroy all noxious weeds on his property whether that property is cultivated or not. The weeds must be destroyed before they go to seed, and if the owner fails to carry out this work the authorities will step in and do the job, charging the farmer with the cost of removal.

Financing Is a Specialty

When Contemplating Investments Wise People Consult a Banker

News items about agents of phony stock being sent to jail and about others who escape the law, are not infrequent today, and it makes sorrowful reading, for the reason that so many of their victims are people who have entrusted their hard-earned savings to these agents or promoters. Yet there are many worthwhile concerns in which one may invest with safety. How can the good be distinguished from the bad? Very often they can't be. But those who have money to invest can be sure of their ground if they will consult their bankers or some other reputable financier.

When you're sick you consult a doctor; when you need the law, you see a lawyer. Financing is a specialty about as intricate as medicine or law. Therefore see your banker before you loosen your purse strings.

A Graceful Afternoon Or Evening Frock

Exceedingly graceful is the frock pictured here. The two-piece pointed skirt is gathered to a bodice having the lower edge slightly rounded, thereby giving a graceful line. The attractive arrangement of the surplice effect is effectively shown, and there are lace shields at the front and back. The long pointed sleeves may be omitted for evening wear, if desired, thereby making this frock suitable for many occasions. An added note of contrast is introduced in the flowers placed at the shoulder and hip closing. No. 1501 is for misses and small women, and is in sizes 16, 18 and 20 years. Size 18 (36 bust) requires 3½ yards 39-inch material, or 2½ yards 54-inch, and ¾ yard all-over lace for the shields. Price 25 cents the pattern.

Many styles of smart apparel may be found in our Fashion Book. Our designers originate their patterns in the heart of the style centres, and their creations are those of tested popularity, brought within the means of the average woman. Price of the book 10 cents the copy.

Small Town Papers

FRANK PARKER STOCKBRIDGE
Reprinted by special permission from Saturday Evening Post. Copyright 1928, by the Curtis Publishing Company, Philadelphia.

"The total circulation of these 11,500 country weeklies is about 9,500,000, an average of a little under 1,000 copies each. That doesn't sound like much to a New Yorker, accustomed to circulation figures in the hundreds of thousands. But there are only about 600 dailies in the United States which have as many as 10,000 circulation, and the whole list of dailies circulates only about 33,000,000.

"It doesn't take a large circulation to make a country weekly profitable. Bert Mills and some of the rest of you chaps here are the magnates of the business. Remember that an income, net, of $3,000 a year in a village of 500 population is a whole lot of money; it's the equal of at least $10,000 a year in Chicago or New York, in what it will enable a man to do for himself and his family. It's a whole lot more than the average man in the same sized town makes; as much, I should say, as anybody else in town is likely to make, including the banker and the general merchant. And I don't think I'm far wrong when I put $3,000 a year as pretty nearly the minimum net profit for country weeklies, with the average closer to $5,000. If I'm wrong somebody correct me."

Sounds all right to me," said an Iowa editor who had been doing nothing but listen. "I personally know at least fifteen country publishers in Iowa who make more than $5,000 a year from their papers. It's a poor paper—or, rather, a poor editor, who can't earn 20 per cent a year on his investment in this business, and I guess our average plant investment runs nearer $20,000 than it does $15,000."

"That will come pretty close to it," said one of the others, who turned out to be the representative of a concern carrying a general line of printing-office machinery. "Take the main items and check me up. First is the typesetting machine, a line caster just like the big city papers use. Mighty few country papers haven't got one machine, many have two; the average is about one and a quarter. Three thousand dollars is cheap for a typesetting machine; the $4,000 ones are more in demand. So put it at $4,000 per paper as the average of that item."

"Then there's the press. There may be, somewhere in the United States, a newspaper still being produced on a hand press, but I don't know where it is. If I did I'd hunt up the editor and sell him a power press. The old-time country paper could be, and often was, printed a page at a time on an Army press that cost $50. More of them used the Washington hand press, which cost $300 to $500 and printed two or four pages at a time. Then the cylinder press came in, with a boy to turn the crank while another fed the sheets, or a little steam engine to turn the press over. But all those are obsolete now. The two-revolution press is the minimum, and from that up to the flat-bed perfecting press, printing from the roll. These types of presses cost from $2,500 to $20,000; I think a fair average here is another $5,000.

"There we have $9,000 in only the two main items of the plant. But we've got to put in hand type and cases for the ads, imposing stones, chases, a folder, a motor for the press and another for the machine, and all the rest of the necessary equipment including stereotyping machinery in many instances. Certainly there's another $4,000 there. That makes an average investment of $13,000 exclusive of building. More country publishers own their buildings than rent, and $2,500 is surely not too high for an average figure of the value of the building, counting in those who don't own their own."

"Yes, I agree with our friend from Iowa that the average investment in country weeklies runs well above $15,000, and it is increasing all the time."

The advertising-agency man had been teetering on the edge of his chair, eager to pick up the conversation again.

"Let me give you some more figures," he insisted. "You're wondering where the country editors get the money to invest in their plants, and where their profits come from. Here are some government statistics: There are nearly 60,000,000 people—more than half the population of the United States—who live in these small towns or in the country around them. There are still 27,000,000 on the farms, although 500,000 farmer families have moved to town since June, 1926. But where did they move to? To the big cities? Don't think it; they moved to the small towns, where they are still readers of the country weeklies."

"And these 60,000,000 people, instead of being the poorest part of our population, are pretty nearly the richest, on the average. There aren't many millionaires among them, but they'll average a higher cash income per family than the big cities average. Here's a survey of Edgar County, Illinois, which shows an average cash income per family of $2,500 a year, in addition to the rent for most of them and a large part of their food supply for many of them. That's a big income when you consider how small the living expenses are in rural communities.

"Here's another survey, made by the General Federation of Women's Clubs in July, 1927, of towns under 5,000 population—the exact territory we are talking about. It shows that in these towns there are 127,885 families owning phonographs, 104,410 with pianos, and 68,400 with radio sets.

"Here are some more government figures, from the Department of Agriculture: The farmers of the United States—those 27,000,000 men, women and children—spend $6,000,000,000 every year for manufactured goods; they earn one-sixth of the national income, own one-fifth of the national wealth and pay one-fifth of the cost of running the national and state governments.

"They buy everything. The National Automobile Chamber of Commerce reports that they buy the majority of all motor-trucks, more than 60 per cent, of all automobiles and, naturally, nearly all the tractors. A survey by the electric-appliance industries of 750 small towns showed that 85 per cent. of the homes were wired for electricity. That's a higher proportion than in some good-sized cities. The people who live in these towns and in the nearby farm-houses which also have electric current are customers for every sort of electric equipment.

"Those are the folk who make the modern country newspaper possible and profitable."

GREATNESS THROUGH SERVICE

Golden Text: "The Son of Man also came not to be ministered unto, but to minister, and to give His life a ransom for many."—Mark 10:45.

Lesson: Mark 9:33-50; 10:35-45.

Devotional Reading: Isaiah 42:1-7.

Explanations and Comments

The Request For Preferment, verses 35-37.—James and John the sons of Zebedee, came to Jesus with a special request. Matthew says that their mother came with the request (Matthew 20:20). "The case is in accordance with the law maxim 'He who does anything through another, does it himself'."—John A. Broadus. An Australian writer suggests that Mark was more chivalrous than Matthew, or else that Matthew wished to save the face of James and John, and adds, "Anyhow, it was clearly a family affair, with almost a suggestion of an Eastern intrigue. Salome may have been put up to it by her sons."

"We would that Thou shouldst do for us whatsoever we shall ask of Thee," they began. They would have Him, as it were, give them a signed check leaving them to fill in the amount as they pleased.

How like many—shall I say most?—of our petitions! We come to God to get what we want, not to learn what He wants us to have or wants from us. As Bishop Temple says, the form of all pagan prayer is, "Will you do for me what I want?" While the form of Christian prayer is, "Will You do with me and with all men what You want?"

To Jesus' question as to what they wished, they replied: "Grant unto us that we may sit, one on Thy right hand, and one on Thy left hand, in Thy glory." The two disciples were at least honest in their request; they wanted precedence and asked for it in plain words. They do not include Peter in their request for the chief places; were they jealous of him, and were they seeking to "get ahead" of him? The right and the left hand were the places of honor. Dummelow quotes a saying of Rabbi Acha to the effect that the Holy and Blessed God will cause King Messiah to sit at His right hand, and Abraham at His left.

"Rank in itself is one of the false gods which it is the business of religion and philosophy to dethrone. Outward rank deserves outward respect, genuine respect is only accorded to real usefulness."—Donald Hankey.

The Acid Test

"Put up notices that no book agents are to be admitted to the building," said the publisher.

"But you have just advertised for agents to sell our new work," protested the secretary.

"Of course, I want to try the applicants out. If a man could be stopped by a little thing like that notice, what good would he be to us."

Gilbert: "Horace is very religious, isn't he?"

Morgan: "I should say he is. Why, he even wears a herringbone suit on Friday."

Fred: Do you think women can stand more suffering than men?

Jack: Well, I can hardly imagine a man wearing chiffon stockings in winter.

London Daily Mail Pictures Events In Year 2,000

A newspaper as newspaper men thought it would be on January 1, 2000, has been published in London by the Daily Mail.

"Air fire squad section 28 flies to a fire in Regent street and quickly quenches a blaze with its "Anti-Fireo" extinguishers.

"The big murder of the day is that of a man killed by mental suggestion from his enemy.

"So greatly, in fact, has the mental power of the race increased that school children play games during the day and through a silent battery of 'memory impressors' do their studying in their sleep.

"Television is a routine part of the day's affairs. A crowd gathers in Trafalgar Square to watch a cricket match between the English and Australian teams playing each other at Sydney, on the other side of the world.

"Captain Ralph Girdlestone's 24-hour flight around the world is featured particularly because a noonday sun was shining over him all during the flight. People have to wear 'crash-proof lingerie' because flying is a part of their ordinary daily life.

"The only thing that seems unchanged is the civil war in China, which is still in the news."

The newspaper—a full-sized one of 24 pages—was published with a Daily Mail exhibition of "Homes of the Future," at the Great Olympia.

Cute in a Baby—
Awful at Three —and it's Dangerous

by Ruth Brittain

Much of the nervousness in older children can be traced to the over-stimulation during infancy, caused by regarding baby as a sort of animated toy for the amusement of parents, relatives and friends. Baby may be played with, but not for more than a quarter of an hour to an hour daily. Beyond that, being handled, tickled, caused to laugh or even scream, will sometimes result in vomiting, and invariably causes irritability, crying or sleeplessness.

Fretfulness, crying and sleeplessness from this cause can easily be avoided by treating baby with more consideration, but when you just can't see what is making baby restless or upset, better give him a few drops of pure, harmless Castoria. It's amazing to see how quickly it calms baby's nerves and soothes him to sleep; yet it contains no drugs or opiates. It is purely vegetable—the recipe is on the wrapper. Leading physicians prescribe it for colic, cholera, diarrhea, constipation, gas on stomach and bowels, feverishness, loss of sleep and all other "upsets" of babyhood. Over 25 million bottles used a year shows its overwhelming popularity.

With each bottle of Castoria, you get a book on Motherhood, worth its weight in gold. Look for Chas. H. Fletcher's signature on the package so you'll get genuine Castoria. There are many imitations.

DON'T suffer headaches, or any of those pains a tablet of Aspirin can end in a hurry! Physicians prescribe it, and approve its free use, for it does not affect the heart. Every druggist has it, but don't fail to ask the druggist for Bayer. And don't take any but the tablets that are stamped with the "Bayer Cross."

Aspirin is the trade mark registered in Canada, indicating Bayer Manufacture. While it is well known that Aspirin means Bayer manufacture, to assure the public against imitations, the Tablets will be stamped with their "Bayer Cross" trade mark.

"Well, there's many a good girl has come to me before without references, Mrs. Angus. I'm no such a hand for references as I once was," said Miss Ritchie. "They are often written to get rid of a girl, you know."

"No, I do not know that," said Mrs. Angus; "I prefer references."

"Well, then, here you are," said Miss Ritchie; "here's an old country girl with letters from rectors and curates and local bodies and all—she'll do fine for you."

That morning Helmi was interviewed by four other women. She was viewed with favor by the first one, who enumerated her good points without ever thinking it might be embarrassing. "You look clean and smart," she said; "you know how to put your clothes on straight, and you look a person square in the eye. You are a foreigner, I see. From what country?"

"Finland," said Helmi.

"Goodnight!" cried the lady, with a harsh laugh; "then it's all off. My husband had one in his bridge gang and, a positive nuisance he was, a socialist and agitator. He would put me out if I brought home a Finn. I want a British subject, Miss Ritchie. We owe it to our own to give them the choice, though, dear me, some of the English girls have been a trial, too."

The next woman who talked to Helmi kept a boardinghouse, and fancied Helmi on account of her height. "I like a tall girl—she can carry trays better. You've done it?—that's good. Yes, you are a likely looking girl. I must say—foreign, but still you have good English. I don't mind Finns—they're tempery, but clean and smart. What's that? You want to go home at night! Why? A Baby! Nothing doing—you won't do me at all. No, sir,

Several times when I was run down, suffered from weak stomach, thin and impoverished blood, I took it and always obtained good results. It enriched my blood, relieved me of the weak stomach, built me up in health, and made me feel like a new person. I also found it splendid to take following motherhood to give me strength. I had a girl with a baby once and it was always getting sick or dying or something just when I needed her worst. Never again! I believe in population all right, but I can't have a waitress with a baby, even if we never get the country settled. What in the world did you have a baby for, a smart girl like you?"

Helmi stared at her haughtily. "It is not your business," she said, "I can have a baby if I want it without asking you."

"You bet you can, and welcome. Well, who else have you, Miss Ritchie?"

The fourth woman who spoke to Helmi asked her many questions about her past. "Where is your husband?" she asked.

Helmi replied that she did not know.

"Are you sure you are married?" Helmi produced the certificate.

"Do you ever think he may have deserted you?" the woman asked searchingly.

Helmi hesitated, and as the woman plied her questions she could only think of the brace and bit Jack used to bore holes in the boards. Helmi knew she had no right to question her, but she answered as bravely as she could, all the time praying, "Make her take me, God! Make her!"

"Well, my dear, I wouldn't be too sure. Men are fickle, I know. My first husband left me."

"My man is a good one," said Helmi, firmly.

"Any family?"

"One little girl, one month old."

"Well, of course, that would be the difficulty."

"I can leave her with friends," said Helmi, eagerly. She was going panky. Was there no work anywhere for her?

"Still, I have three sons, young men; it would not be nice to have a young girl who has a baby—you know what boys are like—inclined to tease."

"I like boys, good enough," said Helmi, eagerly, "try me—I am a smart worker. I have to get work, my money is nearly gone, and I must pay for my baby's care, my friends are not rich people."

"I would not suppose they were," said the lady, with emphasis. "I suppose they are Finnish people like yourself—simply working people."

"No, ma'am," said Helmi. "It is a Canadian family who have been very good to me."

"Indeed," said Mrs. Swallowell, "how good of them! I hope you are very grateful."

"I am," said Helmi. "I want to pay. Will you take me?"

"I will think about it. I do not like to decide in a hurry. My home is everything to me. I plan everything so carefully. People tell me I am foolish, but it's my nature. Give me your phone number. You haven't a phone? Oh, dear, how awkward! Let me see, you could phone me—No. 8333—that is easy to remember but I cannot just say when I will be in. Every day there is something. Really, I grow busier all the time, it seems, and one cannot refuse invitations when one accepts them. Friday evening at dinner time—we dine at seven—I think I have no dinner engagement."

Sadly disappointed, Helmi turned away. How could she wait until Friday—she must have work. It was now near twelve—surely someone would take her? She looked back and searched the faces of the women. Miss Ritchie nodded to her encouragingly.

"I'll phone about for you when I can," she said; "there is a rush on this morning."

Just at that moment the door opened and a dainty little lady entered. She came to the desk quickly, with tiny steps, like a mechanical toy. "Oh, Miss Ritchie, I am in such trouble," she began; "Mary has left me. She quarrelled with Robin, and wanted him to apologize. It is pretty hard for a big boy of seven to apologize, now, isn't it? He simply wouldn't. He had thrown a tomato at her—it was very naughty of him, of course—just a boyish prank—and she took it so seriously. Have you someone?"

Miss Ritchie called Helmi over. "Here's the very girl for you, Mrs. Brand," she said; "she has a baby of her own, and she'll be good to the twins, I know."

"Oh, I couldn't take a girl with a baby—it would be . . .," she hesitated.

"I can work by the day and leave the baby with friends," said Helmi. She was pale and tired now, and looked too ill to be an attractive venture for anyone looking for help.

"I am strong," said Helmi; "my baby is young, so I am pale yet. Try me—for a day even."

"Well, I must ask my husband—I always consult him of course"—(Mr. Brand would have been interested in this) "and I will let Miss Ritchie know. That will be the best. I couldn't very well let you bring the baby, and it's at night I need you most."

Helmi turned to Miss Ritchie. "I must go now," she said; "a little girl minds the baby—home from school, she stayed for me."

Miss Ritchie nodded. "Better luck next time," she said; "I shall keep you in mind."

In the afternoon Helmi came back. Mrs. Corbett was not going out, so she kept the baby. But no one wanted Helmi—she was a foreigner, and she had a baby.

Kind-hearted Miss Ritchie was distressed, and flared up in anger when one woman said to Helmi: "You should have thought of this about this time last year?"

"Having a baby is not a crime, Mrs. Corbett; the poor girl is honest and willing to work. She'd give service for every dollar, I'll go bail. She isn't asking charity or even sympathy."

All afternoon Helmi waited, while well-dressed women came and went. The seekers of employment sat together, and were easily distinguishable from the others. Their manner was humble and beseeching. The war with all its dislocations had thrown many women out of employment, and on the faces of many, gaunt fear was plainly written. This was particularly true of those who were the most refined and cultured.

Fragments of conversation fell around Helmi as she sat among the seekers.

Two women in seal coats were discussing the situation.

An Oil For All Men.—The sailor, the soldier, the fisherman, the lumberman, the out-door laborer and all who are exposed to injury and the elements will find in Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil a true and faithful friend. To ease pain, relieve colds, dress wounds, subdue lumbago and overcome rheumatism, it is excellent. Therefore, it should have a place in all home medicines and be amongst those taken on a journey.

Position Is Reversed

U.S. Will Never Be Able To Pay Debt To Britain

Nearly as many men of the British empire passed over the Menin road to the Ypres salient not only never to return but ever to lie there without a grave, unknelt, unconfined and unknown, as the United States lost by death in the world war. And we of all the universe, have reason to stand with gratitude before that gate of honor to those who perished behind it. But for their endurance and that of their comrades, living and dead, it would not be a memorial of their sacrifice, but a monument to their defeat—a gate opening to the sea and our own coasts. And yet we continue to speak of their debt to us—their debt, who have put us and all the world in eternal debt to them.—New York Times.

Insist on Minard's Liniment—accept no other.

Piano Is Still Popular

Radio Or Mechanical Instruments Cannot Take Its Place

When the popularity of the radio began to be manifest, many persons expressed the opinion that all musical instruments would in time become obsolete, especially the piano. But the recent statement of a New York piano company that all existing records in the piano business had been broken by the sale of $108,000 worth of pianos in one day proves the contrary. The same prediction was made when the player-piano and the phonograph made their debut, but this extraordinary one-day sale of pianos indicates otherwise.

Centennial Celebration

Henri Dunant, Founder Of Red Cross, Winner of Nobel Peace Prize

Born Geneva, May 8, 1828. Died, Paris, October 31, 1910.

Franco-Swiss business man and philanthropist. Author of several books.

Casually travelling through Northern Italy in 1859, Dunant came upon the ghastly plain of Solferino where, on June 24th, 300,000 men had been engaged in a battle which had lasted fifteen hours.

Shocked into action at the sight of 40,000 dead, wounded and dying soldiers, Dunant undertook to establish a volunteer ambulance and nursing service, recruited from the nearby town of Castiglione. With these workers, he obtained official permission to tend the wounded and dying on the field of battle, going out personally with wine, food, cigarettes, tobacco, for which he paid out of his own purse. So indefatigably did he work that, in gratitude, the invalids named him "The Good Samaritan of Castiglione."

The vision of the suffering witnessed at Solferino never left him. For three years he travelled about Europe, preaching, lecturing, writing, advocating the need of speedy reorganization of military and medical nursing service. Finally, in 1862, his little book "Un Souvenir de Solferino" appeared and startled a shocked world into the immediate need for change.

The Committee of Public Safety consequently, under the presidency and chairmanship of Gustave Moynier and General Dufour, became so interested that it succeeded in calling together an International Conference in 1863. As a result of these efforts still another conference was called in 1864, when 16 nations sent delegates. The meeting ended when 12 out of the 16 national representatives signed the first Treaty of Geneva, and Red Cross was established for the first time in international law. Today 59 nations subscribe to this Treaty, which grew out of the ideals of Henri Dunant.

Dunant lived a long and useful life, devoting a large fortune to the furtherance of his benevolent and philanthropic work.

Low Summer Fares

Round Trip Summer Excursion Fares Go Into Effect May 15th

Summer days are bargain days on the Canadian National Railways. Commencing May 15, round trip summer excursion fares goes into effect. These fares feature a reduction of from 20 to 25 per cent as compared with the regular rates as well as allowing the traveller a longer period before the date of expiration, the low fares remaining in effect until September 30.

The new rates are applicable from Pacific and prairie province points on the Canadian National Railways to all points in the east and also from prairie province points to the Pacific Coast. On the eastern route the option of making part of the trip by boat across the Great Lakes is permitted and the same privilege is extended to those desirous of making the boat trip between Vancouver and Prince Rupert.

Given Leave To Appear

Four organizations have been given permission to appear before the committee investigating immigration. The Anglican Synod, which recently expressed criticism of the department, the Canadian Legion (Alberta command), the Welcome League and the Salvation Army were all given leave to appear.

Little Helps For This Week

"Let us do good unto all men."—Galatians vi. 10.

The chief use, then in man of that he knows.

Is his painstaking for the good of all;

Not fleshly weeping for our own-made woes,

Nor laughing from a melancholy gall;

Not hating from a soul that overflows With bitterness breathed out from inward thrall;

But sweetly, rather, to ease, to loose, or bind,

As need requires, this frail, fallen human kind.—Fulke Greville.

Power to do good is the true and lawful end of aspiring. For good thoughts, though God accept them, yet towards men they are little better than good dreams, except they be put in act, and that cannot be without power and place as the vantage ground.—Lord Bacon.

NO MEDICINE LIKE BABY'S OWN TABLETS

For Either the Newborn Babe Or the Growing Child

There is no other medicine to equal Baby's Own Tablets for little ones—whether it be for the new born babe or the growing child the Tablets always do good. They are absolutely free from opiates or other harmful drugs and the mother can always feel safe in using them.

Concerning the Tablets, Mrs. John Armour, R.R. 1, South Monaghan, Ont., says:—"We have three fine, healthy children, to whom, when a medicine is needed, we have given only Baby's Own Tablets. The Tablets are the best medicine you can keep in any home where there are young children."

Baby's Own Tablets are a mild but thorough laxative which regulate the stomach and bowels; banish constipation and indigestion; break up colds and simple fever and make teething easy. They are sold by medicine dealers or direct by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Greater Part Submerged

Icebergs float so that almost nine times their visible bulk is submerged. In Baffin Bay Sir John Ross saw icebergs aground in 1,500 feet of water, Antarctic icebergs, though rarely over two hundred feet in height, are often vast plateaux, table-topped, that have been known to reach thirty miles in length.

A Real Asthma Relief. Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy has never been advertised by extravagant statements. Its claims are conservative indeed, when judged by the benefits which it performs. Expect real relief and permanent benefits when you buy this remedy and you will not have cause for disappointment. It gives permanent relief in many cases where other so called remedies have utterly failed.

A holy war is reported to be raging in Arabia and parts adjacent. As we understand it, a holy war is about as holy as a civil war is civil.

Toothache

Fill cavity with cotton soaked in Minard's. Also bathe the face. Quick and sure relief.

CALGARY POWER CO. LTD.

RURAL SERVICE RATES

The following data on rural service charges may be used by prospective customers as a basis for estimating the cost to themselves of POLE LINE, SERVICE and ENERGY CHARGES:

The necessary transformers, protective apparatus and metering equipment will be supplied and installed at the expense of the Company, and continuous single phase alternative current service provided at 110 and 220 volts, 60 cycles

The pole line connecting the Company's main transmission line to the Customer's premises will be supplied and erected by the Company, but partly paid for by the Customer at the rate of $25.00 per span of approximately 250 feet, that is about $550.00 per mile. The number of spans in each case will be one more than the number of poles actually used in the Customer's extension, since, in any case, it requires one span of wire to reach the Customer's premises.

To cover interest on the Company's transformers and metering installation only, and to cover maintenance, renewals and service work on the installation and also on the pole line connecting the Company's main line to the Customer's premises, the Customer will pay the Company a minimum SERVICE CHARGE of $3.00 per month, which will be the total net monthly SERVICE CHARGE, provided that not more than three spans are required to reach the Customer's premises and no more than 5 K.V.A. transformer capacity is required. For each span in excess of three spans the Customer will pay the Company additional SERVICE CHARGE of 12½ cents per month.

The 5 K.V.A. Transformer in almost every case takes care of all requirements, including lighting, electric range, electric iron, toaster stove, washing machine, motor up to 5 horse-power capacity, etc. Should additional capacity be required this will be provided by the Company for an extra SERVICE CHARGE of $1.50 net per month for each additional 5 K.V.A. of transformer capacity.

The SERVICE CHARGE, computed as above, is payable every three months in advance. When more than one consumer takes service off the same extension, the total cost of the extension (on a span basis as explained) will be equitably divided between the consumers, but in no case will any consumer be required to pay for more than the number of spans required to serve him. The monthly SERVICE CHARGE in such cases will be based on the total number of spans in the extension, less three spans per customer, divided by the number of consumers, but in no case will a consumer be obliged to pay a SERVICE CHARGE in excess of that required to cover the number of spans necessary to supply him.

In addition to the SERVICE CHARGE, the Customer will pay for energy consumed during the preceding three months (as registered by the meter) at the following rates:

For the First 90 kilowatt hours (K.W.H.) used in three months @ 1 for 10c
For the Next 60 kilowatt hours (K.W.H.) used in three months @ 2 for 10c
For All Over 150 kilowatt hours (K.W.H.) used in three months @ 3 for 10c

DISCOUNT—

If payment is made within ten days of the date of billing, a discount of ten per cent. (10%) on the dollars of the amount charged for energy will be allowed.

An advance of $10.00 is required to be deposited with the Company by the Customer as a guaranty of payment for energy used.

The POLE LINE CHARGE plus the first three months SERVICE CHARGE, plus the $10.00 GUARANTY DEPOSIT, are payable in advance at the time of signing the contract.

The following table will serve as a guide to prospective consumers in computing their COSTS and SERVICE CHARGES:

No. of Poles	No. of Spans	Cost of Spans	Monthly Service Charge on Pole Spans	Pole Spans Free of Service Charge	Total Net Monthly Service Charge
0	1	$ 25.00	$.00	3	$3.00

Completing her 28,000-mile cruise around the world in the course of which she visited 18 countries and 27 ports, Canadian Pacific flagship Empress of Australia docked at New York April 12, from which port she sailed December 2 last. Winnipeg.—Over a thousand new homesteads have been filed in the four western provinces during the month of January and February this year, being 1,036 as compared with 629 for the same two months, period of last year. By provinces, Manitoba reports 74 homestead entries as against 71 last year, Saskatchewan 430 as against 336, Alberta 502 as against 213, and British Columbia 30 against 9.

Raymond.—According to a cable from London, England, discoveries likely to be important for the Canadian beet sugar industry have been made at Oxford. A means has been found to dry the sugar beet and thus allow the manufacture of sugar to be continued throughout the year, and it is even believed that a method of treating the resulting effluent in such a way as to free it from poison has also come to light. The discoveries are a result of four years' research work.

Vancouver.—I am satisfied with the progress of Canadian products in the Chinese trade field and prospects for the increase of trade are extremely good," Col. Moore Cochrane, Canadian Government Trade Commissioner to China, said here on his arrival from the Orient. "Canadian products of all kinds and especially those from British Columbia are being very well received in China now. There is no real boycott against Canadian goods; the Chinese merchant knows his prices and knows where to place his orders."

Announcement has been made from Canadian Pacific Railway headquarters that a "Remembrance Tour" is being organized for the coming summer for ex-soldiers, their relations and friends to visit the scenes of battles in France and Flanders during the Great War. The tour will leave Montreal July 13 next, on board Canadian Pacific liner "Duchess of Bedford," one of the new cabin class steamships which will be placed by the company on the St. Lawrence route this year.

A nineteen-year-old youth, Arthur Cleland Lloyd, of Vancouver, was the winner of the $1,000 prize for orchestral suite composed for the Musical Festival to be held at Quebec May 24-28. Three other prizes were rewarded and a further $1,000 for a cantata will be given later. The prizes, which totalled $3,300, were the gift of E. W. Beatty, chairman and president of the Canadian Pacific Railway. The contest was open to all the world and compositions were received from Great Britain, France, Hungary, Denmark and the United States as well as Canada.

Ottawa may conceivably be selected for a future meeting of the Council of the League of Nations and Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, Prime Minister of Canada, should attend the next assembly of the League in appreciation of the honor paid Canada by her election to the council of the 14 leading powers of the League of Nations, was the statement of Sir Herbert Ames, for seven years financial director of the Secretariat of the League, when interviewed on the Windsor street C. P. R. station here recently.

Five special trains carrying around 1500 pilgrims passed through Montreal recently on their way to Quebec City and the shrine of Ste Anne de Beaupre also visiting the shrine of St Joseph in Montreal on their return trip. They were from the church of St Aidan, Jersey City and under the care of Father Thomas M. Curry, parish priest, were on their annual pilgrimage to these shrines.

Shipments of freight destined to points in the north-west of Canada, via Port McNicoll, Ont., on the Canadian Pacific lake and rail route will now be accepted, the earliest date being April 9. There will be five steamers in the company's lake service between Port McNicoll and the head of the Lakes during the coming season. Through passenger service will be resumed this season from Owen Sound May 7 and from Port McNicoll May 19.

THINGS THAT ARE

Luckily for humanity, it still maintains a saving sense of humor. Were this not so, the wailings of the pessimists would drive us all crazy. For surely there is no lack of prophets of doom to harry us with their doleful warnings that the world is going to pot.

Each long-faced brother solemnly assures us that unless his particular panacea for saving the race shall be speedily adopted there is no hope. Modernism, flapperism, automobiles, hooch, movies, dancing, bridge and cigarette, singly or in combination, constitute the outstanding menace, according to the viewpoint of the particular alarmist who happens to have the floor.

Then, after listening to these apostles of doom, with a more or less pronounced feeling of boredom, unregenerate humanity turns to the funny page and smiles at the varying fortunes of Jiggs and Andy Gump.

This does not mean that the average person is indifferent to the evil in the world. It means that sensible people recognize the inherent weakness and folly of humanity, and refuse to become unduly excited about it. They realize the futility of trying to carry the world's burden on their shoulders, though they seek to be helpful in practical ways. They courageously face the things that are, while sanely striving for the things that ought to be.—Exchange.

John C. Thudium, 83 years old, of Brookfield, Mo., claims to be the oldest cigarmaker living. In 64 years at that trade he has made 17,000,000 cigars, all by hand.

Winnipeg. — Despite the heavy movement of immigrants to the West during the past two weeks, more positions are open on western farms than the railways and employment agencies can fill, immigration and employment officers state. Thousands of vacancies, the officers said, had been reported. Likelihood of an earlier commencement of seeding operations is generally conceded in the West, they added, and unless immigration continues at its present high peak the opening of operations on the land may find western farmers short-handed.

CONTINUAL dosing upsets children's delicate stomachs. Vicks is applied externally and therefore cannot disturb the digestion. It acts in two ways: (1) The body heat releases the ingredients in the form of vapors which are inhaled. (2) At the same time Vicks "draws out" the soreness like a poultice.

TO WOMEN OF MIDDLE AGE

Mrs. Wilson's Experience a Guide to Women Passing through the Change of Life

Hamilton, Ontario. — "I have taken several bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I cannot speak too highly of it as I was at the Change of Life and was all run-down and had no appetite. I was very weak and sick, and the pains in my back were so bad I could hardly move. I got very sad at times and thought I had not a friend on earth. I did not care if I lived or died. I was very nervous, too, and did not go out very much. A friend advised me to try a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, so I did. I am a farmer's wife, and always worked hard until lately, and was in bed for two months. I began to feel like a new woman after the first bottle and I recommend it with great success, also Lydia E. Pinkham's Liver Pills. I am willing to answer letters from women asking about your medicines, as I cannot speak too highly of them." — Mrs. EMMA WILSON, 471 Wilson Street, Hamilton, Ontario.

Small Town Papers

Reprinted by special permission from Saturday Evening Post. Copyright 1928 by the Curtis Publishing Company, Philadelphia.

"I tell you what, you skeptical old type louse," he continued, looking at his wrist watch and slapping me on the back, "I'm in town for a meeting of the executive committee of our editorial association to make arrangements for our convention next summer. If you really want to know what the country newspaper is like in this year of grace, come on along with me to the hotel. We haven't any secrets and you can speak the language of the craft well enough to pass for one of us. You'll meet some good fellows, live newspapermen, from the small towns all over the country, and they'll tell you better stories than I can. Can you spare the time? I'd love to have you come."

"I've time enough," I told him, "but I don't like to butt in."

"Butt in, my eye!" said Bert. "You used to be my boss, you know, and I want to show the other chaps the guy who taught me the beginnings of journalism. They'll be tickled to meet you. Besides, if you don't hear what they have to say I know what'll happen. You'll go round to the newspaper club and tell the old-timers whom I used to know what a liar Bert Mills has turned out to be. Come on!"

I went. And I found out that that novelist's idea of making a living out of a couple of country newspapers wasn't so funny as it had seemed to me. Things have changed in the small towns; and, as the saying goes, how!

It didn't take long, after Bert had introduced me all around, to discover that the thirty or forty country editors in the crowd were immensely proud of their profession, their papers and their home towns. That was the most noticeable difference between them and the sort of country editor I had known in my youth. The old-time country editor had plenty of professional pride, but if he was proud of his town, the feeling was not often reciprocated. These were men of standing in their communities; you could tell that by the way they talked and carried themselves.

"The successful country newspaper publisher today is no longer primarily a printer," is the way one of them explained it to me. "You notice that I said publisher. That means that he is a business man. He may or may not be also an editor or a printer, or both, but the emphasis is on the business end. Most of us are our own editors as well as publishers, and there are still a good many who began as printers and will always be printers at heart. But publishing a country paper of today is definitely a business, and a very profitable business."

There were country publishers from every part of the United States at this meeting, as well as representatives of business concerns having merchandise to sell to country papers. Between listening to the discussions in the committee and the conversation around the luncheon table, where Bert Mills brought a dozen other good fellows together, I discovered that my former ideas about country papers were based upon conditions which are as extinct as the passenger pigeon.

Much of the picturesqueness and glamour which surrounded the old-time country editor and his shop have disappeared, to be replaced by modern efficiency. There are still occasional pioneers, penetrating into new fields with the vanguard of civilization, to set up their presses and preempt the field in advance of population; but these are rare instances on the few remaining frontiers, and even in such cases, subscribers, advertisers and profits follow faster than B. Franklin Simms, my old boss, ever dreamed of.

A California editor told us of a man in his own state, F. L. Drexler, who took a pioneering chance less than five years ago.

"I don't know how much capital he had," said the California man, "but it wasn't much. He bought a little paper, the Free Press, at Riverdale. Riverdale has a census population of 284; it's just a wide place in the road. After Drexler had made his first payment he had just $150 left, he told me. But he made the paper pay, and since then he started two others, each in a village of less than 250 people. I don't know what he's worth, but he's always paid his bills and wages promptly, kept his children in the best schools, own two automobiles and two printing plants, all paid for, besides some real estate, and has a cash surplus in the bank."

A Florida delegate matched that with the story of Howard Sharp's Everglades News.

"I don't think there are as many as 250 people in the town of Canal Point, on Lake Okechobee, where Sharp started the News a few years ago," he said; "but today the News has about 1500 circulation, which is higher than the national average of country weeklies, and it covers its local field exclusively and intensively. Anybody who wants to know what is happening in Washington or Russia, or whether Lindbergh made another Though the days of passenger liners in distress have gone, ships' seamen are still encouraged to keep fit by lifeboat rowing competitions. Here is Col. W. I. flight yesterday, can subscribe to some city daily; but the city daily can't give the space to tell how many acres of muck land each farmer in Everglades has under cultivation, how many cars of beans were shipped during the week, and the rest of the intimate, personal, local news, which is what the people living there really want to know."

That is the secret of the success of the country newspaper, just as it always has been—the ability to give its readers news about themselves which the city paper, no matter how near by it may be published, cannot possibly give them. Instead of trying to compete with the daily papers, the country editors of today are leaving the fields of national and international news to the dailies—even state news to a large extent—and concentrating on the news of their own counties or circulation territory. The country weekly in the old days had to print a good deal of general news because its readers were out of range of the dailies. Now the dailies penetrate everywhere, but, paradoxically the country newspapers are more flourishing than ever before.

In Greenfield, Massachusetts, for example, a town of 15,000, there is a substantial daily paper; but there is also the Greenfield Gazette, which has been published as a weekly for 135 years. The Gazette has forty correspondents, one in every town in Franklin County, two in some towns, and there isn't a farmer in the territory who can paint his barn or buy a new fliver without the news of it getting into the Gazette. The result is a circulation above 5,000.

GREAT HELP TO YOUNG MOTHERS

Baby's Own Tablets Have Many Uses and Are Absolutely Harmless

To have in the house a simple, harmless remedy for the minor ills of babies and little children is a great boon to young mothers, and this is exactly why Baby's Own Tablets have been found in thousands of households. The Tablets regulate the stomach and bowels, break up colds and simple fevers, allay the irritation of cutting teeth, yet they have no drug taste and the children like them.

Concerning the Tablets Mrs. Ruthven Crommiller, Ruthven, Ont., writes:—"Kindly send me your little book on the Care of the Baby. I have two children, one four years of age and the other a year and a half. Both are in excellent health and the only medicine they have had is Baby's Own Tablets. I always keep the Tablets in the house and am happy to recommend them to other mothers."

Baby's Own Tablets are sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cts. a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

JESUS AND THE HOME

Golden Text: "Honor thy father and thy mother" (which is the first commandment with promise). — Ephesians 6:2.

Lesson: Mark 10:1-6.

Devotional Reading: Ephesians 6:1-9.

Explanations and Comments

The Teaching Of Jesus About Divorce, verses 2-9.—Pharisees came to Jesus and in an effort, not to obtain instruction, but to entangle Him, put to Him this much-disputed question: "Is it lawful for a man to put away his wife?" As later in their question about the tribute money, so here they thought that whichever way He answered they would have a case against Him. If He said "Yes," He would offend the Jews who believed in the teaching of Rabbi Jochanan, who said, "The putting away of a wife is odious"; if He said "No," he would be opposing the teaching of many rabbis, and would offend Herodias (for Herod had put away his own wife and married Herodias), the wife of his brother, while the latter was still living, and her fury might cause Him to share the fate of John the Baptist.

As was His frequent custom Jesus referred them to their law: "What did Moses command you?" He questioned, "Moses suffered to write a bill of divorce, and to put her away," they replied.

"You threaten the very life of the Nation when you relax the ties of marriage and weaken the family bond. There is nothing we want more than a new grasp of our Lord's teaching—that there is but one moral law, and that law the same for man and woman. The sacredness of marriage ought to be a subject upon which we have no doubts. On this point it is well not to have an open, but a closed and settled, mind. Let no specious and plausible talk about 'unhappy marriages' unsettle that conviction. The remedy for 'unhappy marriages' is not greater facility for divorce, but increased thought and seriousness in the contraction of marriage. Laxity in this will mean rottenness sweeping in like a flood. It is ours to maintain and assert the more austere and exacting view of Christ. Marriage is an ordinance of God. It is meant for the perfecting of character. It is essentially and ideally permanent and indissoluble."—J. D. Jones.

United Choir give splendid program.

Didsbury and the United Church in particular, are to be congratulated upon the talent revealed at the concert given on Thursday last. The program submitted by the choir of the above church, under whose auspices the concert was held, was a revelation to many the various items being exceedingly well rendered. The Opera House was well filled with an appreciative audience and the frequent applause was thoroughly justified.

The stage was tastefully decorated with banners, flags, palms and lilies. The choir attempted three choral numbers. Mrs. J. E. Huget gave two readings; Miss M. Saugstad and Mrs. D. Edwards sang solos; Mr. and Mrs. J. Miller; gave a vocal duet; Mr. Boorman a violin solo; Mr. Tonjum a vocal solo; an operetta entitled "The Fortune Teller" afforded much amusement, as did a skit put on by the male quartette. Mrs. Ranton and Mr. Miller sang a duet and Mrs. J. Boorman gave a pianoforte solo. Others taking part were Mrs. W. G. Evans, Mrs. J. L. Clarke, Mrs. Chamberlain, Miss Jagoe, Mrs. Mertens, and Mr. Clemens.

The concert was repeated at Lone Pine on Monday evening with very fair success.

ALL HAIL TO THE OLD-TIMER.

The fertility of the soil in the district surrounding Didsbury has unquestionably furnished the basis of the great materia. progress recorded here. Next to that probably comes the old-timer, who with commendable foresight settled here in the early days, and whose progress since has thoroughly justified his choice. One of these, J. Manson, arrived here in March, 1891, accompanied by Dan Rateliff and Wm. Bell Irving. Included with five ears of settler's effects they had a splendid string of Clydesdale horses and a choice bunch of dairy cattle. Mr. Manson was the first homeseeper to settle in 31-3, which event occurred in October, 1893. Eventually, he secured there a section of land, which was sold by him a couple of years ago to Peter Johnson. Mr. Manson, by the way, has been in Canada for upwards of forty years, and can therefore lawfully and rightfully designate himself as indeed an old-timer. He is now located on the Little Red, west and north of Didsbury, a district for which he bespeaks a great future.

Empire Builders

Empire Shopping Week, which was observed throughout Canada last month, appears to have made an especially strong appeal to the people of Western Canada. This may be surprising to many people in the Eastern provinces who are still laboring under the delusion that British and Empire sentiment is not overly strong in the West, and that it has been weakened by the influx of settlers of other than British origin. But it is not surprising to the average Westerner; on the contrary, to him it is but the natural outcome of the thought and outlook of the West.

It is not in the East, but in the West, that the strongest approval is given to the British Preference feature in the Canadian tariff, and it is in the West, rather than the East, that public opinion favors further, albeit gradual, extensions of that Preference with a view to a lowering of duties and still greater encouragement of British trade in this Dominion. In fact, there is a very strong sentiment in the West which would welcome the development of Preference to the point where all customs duties on British-made and British-produced goods were wiped out entirely.

Empire Shopping Week had for its object the focussing of people's attention upon certain economic factors in the development of Canada as a component part of the British Commonwealth of Nations and of the Empire as a whole. Undoubtedly, sentiment provides a mighty urge to all Canadians to give a voluntary preference to Empire goods when making purchases, but, as was the case with prohibition of the liquor traffic, sentiment is not in itself sufficient. It is the economic factor which, in these modern days, provides the most powerful argument. And Western Canada is profoundly interested in the economic factor.

World trade today is, as it has always been and always will be, a system of barter,—the exchange by one country of those products and articles of which it produces a surplus to another country which requires these things, and to accept payment therefore in other goods of which such country produces a surplus but which the first mentioned country requires to import. Money is merely a convenient means of effecting such exchange. In other words, trade between nations operates on exactly the same principles as trade between individuals.

Western Canada, and Canada as a whole, has a surplus of products to sell. If those countries which require the things Canada has to sell are to be in a position to buy and pay for them, we must, in turn, buy from those countries the things they have to sell and which we cannot or do not produce ourselves and must import.

Last year Canada sold to the rest of the British Empire $200,000,000 more products than we purchased from them. On the other hand, Canada bought over $200,000,000 more from the United States than we sold across the line. Canada was enabled to pay the United States for the excess of goods imported because of its excess of sales to other parts of the Empire. While Canada did not lose by this procedure, the Empire did not gain; in fact, it sustained loss.

Now as our major exports must cross the seas to Great Britain, Ireland, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa, it will be to Canada's advantage, in a purely business way, to buy as largely as possible in those countries and thus provide return cargoes for the ships which carry Canada's products into the markets of the far-flung British Empire. The larger these return cargoes, the more profitably can the vessels be operated, the greater the number of ships that will be put on these ocean lanes of transportation, the keener the competition for the business, and, as an inevitable economic result, the lower the freight charges levied on both out-going and in-coming shipments.

The more Canada buys from its sister nations in the British Commonwealth, the more they can buy from us. The one reacts on the other, and trade both ways can thus be built up and grow like the proverbial snowball. It has long been declared that "trade follows the flag," but it is also true that the flag has followed trade, and to the traders of the past we largely owe the Empire of today.

It is equally true that the development of inter-Empire trade has a direct and pronounced effect on immigration, and, inasmuch as Canada is particularly anxious to secure a larger proportion of British settlers, the more we trade with Britain, the more widely will Canada and Canadian products and Canadian resources and possibilities become known among the British people.

The slogan of Empire Shopping Week is indubitably true.—"Empire Buyers are Empire Builders." Let Canada build by buying.

Indigestion

What most people call indigestion is usually excess acid in the stomach. The food has soured. The instant remedy is an alkali which neutralizes acids. But don't use crude helps. Use what your doctor would advise.

The best help is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. For the 50 years since its invention it has remained standard with physicians. You will find nothing else so quick in its effect, so harmless, so efficient.

One tasteless spoonful in water neutralizes many times its volume in acid. The results are immediate, with no bad after-effects. Once you learn this fact, you will never deal with excess acid in the crude ways. Go learn—now—why this method is supreme.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. Each bottle contains full directions—any drugstore.

Uncanny Inventions

Exhibited in London

One Machine Types, Adds, and Multiplies At Same Time

Uncanny efficient inventions were to be seen at the Business Efficiency Exhibition at Holland Park Hall, London, Eng., recently. The devices shown included: An electric machine that opens envelopes at the rate of 30,000 an hour. A machine that types, adds, and multiplies at the same time. A machine that seals, franks, counts, postmarks and prints a slogan on envelopes at the rate of 300 per minute. Portable typewriters in collars to match the home or personal color scheme. A lock which records on a tape the time the door is opened, by whom, and whether from the outside or inside of the room.

NEGLECTED ANAEMIA

Often Leads To the Most Serious Consequences

In no disorder is delay or neglect more dangerous than in anaemia. Usually the first noticeable signs are pale lips and cheeks, dark rims under the eyes and a feeling of weariness. Then follow headaches, backaches, palpitation and breathlessness. The only way that anaemia can be overcome is to enrich the blood, and it is because of their wonderful blood-enriching and blood-making properties that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have won such great success in the treatment of this often most stubborn disease.

Thousands of young girls who were in an anaemic condition owe their present good health to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. One of these, Miss Katie McEachern, Port Hood, N.S., says:—"I praise the day I began the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I had not been feeling well for some time. I was very pale, had severe headaches, dizzy spells and occasional fainting spells. The least exertion would leave me tired and breathless. In this condition I began taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I continued their use until I had taken six boxes, by which time I was again enjoying good health. I hope my experience will lead other sufferers to give this medicine a fair trial."

If you are at all run-down, or weak, you should begin at once to take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and you will soon be well and strong. These pills are sold by all medicine dealers or will be sent by mail at 50 cents a box by The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Has Unusual Occupation

For twenty-three years Lawrence Quinn, chief oysterman at the Hotel Lincoln, New York, has been opening oysters for a living. He opens an average of 3,900 oysters a day, and during his twenty-three years in this work has found dozens of pearls. None of the stones were of fabulous value, but there have been enough small ones to make a very fine necklace and some pendants, and Quinn still has hope that some day he will pick up one that will be of real value.

Miller's Worm Powders do not need the after-help of castor oil or any purgative to complete their thoroughness, because they are thorough in themselves. One dose of them, and they will be found palatable by all children, will end the worm trouble by making the stomach and bowels untenable to the parasites. And not only this, but the powders will be certain to exert most beneficial influences in the digestive organs.

"Dry Ice" New Idea

Substitute Has Been Used Successfully In States

By the use of "dry ice," or solidified carbon dioxide, the price of ice cream will be cut considerably within the next few years, says Fred Rasmussen, of Harrisburg, executive of the International Ice Cream Manufacturers' Association, during the annual convention of the body.

Only fifty pounds of the "dry ice" will supply the needs of an ice cream delivery truck for nearly a day, he declared, and use of the substitute will spread rapidly when it is made in quantity. It is now being used in transporting ice cream by truck from Philadelphia to Atlantic City.

Winnipeg Population

The official figure of the population of Winnipeg proper for 1928, as given by the Assessment Department, is 202,377. Not since 1910 has the 200,000 mark been reached. This year's figure is exceeded only by the population totals for 1914 and 1915, when the figures were 203,255 and 212,889 respectively.

A Region Of Wondrous Beauty

Plea Is Made For Establishment Of Government Park In Bella Coola Valley, B.C.

If you like to get out in the wild country and hunt wild animals, such as grizzlies, with the camera, by all means go to the Bella-Coola Valley, B.C. I have spent the last four summers there, and I am advocating the establishment there of a Dominion Park to be known as MacKenzie Park, in honor of the first white man who crossed Canada and who reached the sea at that point—this to be connected up by means of a highway to be known as Mackenzie Highway, paralleling part of Mackenzie's route so that people can go from New York to California and to Bella Coola over the Mackenzie Highway, visiting Mackenzie Park and returning by way of the Rocky Mountains Park, and so on. This would bring money into British Columbia and Canada. If the Dominion will not carry out this plan I hope to get some wealthy men interested, as the region is one of wonderful beauty. Within a distance of 70 miles, it is easily traversed in one day by motor boat or auto; the coast and the desert interior. One can go from sea level to 12,000 feet, can have boating on both salt, fresh, swift and still waters, paddling, poling, motor boating, sailing, etc. There is excellent trout fishing and good animal photography, grizzly bears being very numerous. Thousands of water falls, one of them over 800 feet high; 18 glaciers may be seen from one place, and there are many others. It costs only $40.00 for a round trip from Vancouver by boat through the fjords of the Northwest of Canada. I have taken my first moving picture, showing life in this region. Board in the valley can be had at 50 cents a meal, good cream, fresh fruit, kindly, nice people, largely of Norwegian descent, noted for cleanliness, and good cooking. Please let me know of anybody who will help me get this park and highway established. We should get about 20 miles wide by 70 miles long of country which is still in the Crown; that is, it is government land, and it is of practically no other value except for park purposes. —Harland T. Smith, Department of Mines, Ottawa.

Forest Effect On Temperatures

Forests have an equalizing effect on extremes of temperature. Records for Canada show that in forested districts maximum temperatures are lower and minimum temperatures higher than in adjoining deforested tracts.

FIRST CONTRACTS AWARDED

Canada's Air Mail Service Will Eventually Cover Dominion

The nucleus of a transcontinental aerial mail service is being established by Canada with the awarding of contracts for four important mail services. Eventually letters will cross the country from Halifax to Vancouver in 36 hours by aeroplane, instead of in five days by railway as at present.

The contracts now entered into provide for a service between Father Point and Montreal and Ottawa, another service of four trips per week between Montreal and Toronto, and all year-round service between Montreal and Albany, N.Y., to connect with the United States Transcontinental Air Service. The total cost will be $201,150.

The Father Point to Montreal service and the Montreal to Ottawa service will be provided by the Canadian Transcontinental Airways, Limited, of Quebec, the Father Point to Montreal section costing $48,500, or $1.25 per flying mile. The Montreal to Ottawa service is to cost $8,250 for the season. For the Montreal-Toronto service the cost will be $40,500, or $1.25 per flying mile, and the Montreal to Albany service will cost $95,900.

According to J. A. Wilson, Director of Civil Aviation in Canada, 60 per cent. of the Royal Air Force pilots during the war were Canadians. Since the war Canada has been devoting her activities to such operations as forest protection, surveying, mapping, and the assisting of engineering and geological survey work in the northern region. It would take some time to build up a transcontinental air mail service, owing to the sparse population of the Dominion, but eventually the people would demand more rapid service than could be given by the present method.

An Oil That Is Prized Everywhere.—Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil was put upon the market without any flourish over fifty years ago. It was put up to meet the wants of a small section, but as soon as its merits became known it had a whole continent for a field, and it is now known and prized throughout this continent. There is nothing equal to it.

BEATTY STRESSES CANADA'S NEED OF POPULATION

Ottawa.—More executive efficiency and greater administrative latitude under experienced executives commanding high salaries were among the suggestions offered by E. W. Beatty, president of the Canadian Pacific railway.

Mr. Beatty indicated his belief that the present efforts being made by the government and the railways were bringing inadequate results. He approved of the training in Great Britain as a method of eliminating "mistakes" from immigrants.

Millions of Canada's 9,500,000 people were of British and French origin he said.

"This would indicate that we have not yet reached the point at which the admission of continentals, even in considerable numbers, should cause apprehension," said Mr. Beatty.

"We are all, I think," said Mr. Beatty, "impressed with the fact that Canada has made substantial progress in the last few years but we think progress can be expedited and even greater prosperity follow the admission of more people to this country. I share the views of the president of the National Railways and I agree with others that our ambition should be to admit, first from Great Britain and afterward from the United States and selected continental countries, men who are physically fit, and able, and willing to follow agricultural pursuits.

"If the figures for the past three years are approximately correct that 80,000 per year was the net increase in our population, other than from natural increase, and the extent of the country and its resources are considered, it cannot, I think, be said we are admitting an adequate number of new settlers. I feel, too, that with present condition of things the fundamental principles underlying the legislation are correct and that immigration as applied to Canada relates almost exclusively to land settlement and colonization. The entrance of men who followed other pursuits will depend upon the opportunities for employment existing in Canada and when these opportunities are known to exist they will be secured without difficulty and without effort. In fact, the history of the U.S. has indicated that where jobs are available applicants are usually found for them in great numbers.

"If I am correct in assuming that the question is one of land settlement and colonization, our efforts must be of necessity largely restricted to obtaining settlers or those who can in time become settlers. We have a great deal of unoccupied land in Canada.

Socialist Leader Has World Peace Scheme

Would Confiscate Half Gold Reserve Of Nations Declaring War

Paris.—While Foreign Minister Aristide Briand and Secretary of State Frank B. Kellogg are getting on slowly in their proposals for outlawing war, Dr. Weill, Socialist leader in Paris, hatched a powerful idea for putting old man Mars out of business.

Dr. Weill says in a proposal made public:

"Let every power that is a member of the league of nations deposit half of its gold reserve at Geneva, agreeing that it will be confiscated the moment it declares war, and I guarantee shooting irons will go right out of fashion."

Gave Life To Aid Bremen

Floyd Bennett Dies In Quebec Hospital From Double Pneumonia

Quebec.—Floyd Bennett, one of the world's best known aviators, died in hospital here, following a severe attack of double pneumonia.

Bennett, who, in conjunction with Bernt Balchen, was one of the first to try to bring tangible aid to the stranded German and Irish trans-Atlantic fliers at Greenly Island, contracted his illness as a direct result of his attempt to help his stranded fellow airmen whose plane, the Bremen, was in a disabled condition at out-of-the-way Greenly Island.

Bennett had been suffering from a heavy cold prior to his take-off from Detroit and had undertaken the flight against advice of physicians.

His wife and Commander Byrd, both of whom rushed here from New York when informed as to Bennett's serious condition, were at his bedside when he died. Mrs. Bennett herself was ill when she arrived here and was occupying a cot in the hospital, suffering from tonsillitis.

Pleased With Senate Prospects

Janey Canuck Sees Results Of Twelve Year Campaign

Edmonton, Alta.—Announcement from Ottawa, that the Dominion Parliament would take steps to amend provisions of the British North America Act so that it would be legal for women to receive appointments to the Senate, brings to a climax a 12-year campaign to achieve this objective instituted and waged with unerring vigor by Mrs. Emily Murphy, first woman to be appointed police magistrate in Canada, and who, under the pen name of Janey Canuck, has contributed much literature to the cause of woman's advancement in the social and political life of the country.

Asked regarding the statement on the subject made in Parliament, by Hon. Ernest Lapointe, Minister of Justice, Mrs. Murphy expressed her heartiest appreciation of the Government's action, and said it was one with which the people of Canada, for the most part, were in perfect harmony, irrespective of "class, creed, party or sex."

Russian Whites Lose Leader

General Wrangel, Enemy Of Bolsheviks, Dies At Brussels

Brussels, Belgium.—Baron Peter Wrangel, the last hope of the Russian Whites, whose army the Bolsheviks chased into the Black Sea seven years ago, is dead.

The end came in the little suburban home to which he retired in 1926, leaving the last remnants of his command, a few Caucasians and Don Cossacks, in Jugo-Slavia. He suffered from intestinal trouble which affected his heart and lungs.

General Wrangel was born at St. Petersburg, now Leningrad, August 15, 1878. He was a member of a remarkable family which traced its origin to the nobility of the Balkan states as far back as 1200.

Must Exercise More Care

Charge Dry Officers At Border Cities Careless With Guns

Ottawa.—Canada will communicate immediately with her minister in Washington, Hon. Vincent Massey, in respect to the endangering of lives of Canadian citizens from bullets believed to have been fired by American preventive officers operating under the Volstead Act, stated Premier King in the House.

Mr. Massey will ask that more care be exercised by these U.S. officials.

According to S. F. Robinson, Conservative, Essex West, several times within the last month Canadians have been nearly killed by bullets from American preventive officers at the border cities of Windsor, Walkerville, and Sandwich.

Increase In Immigration

More Britishers Arrive and Canadians Returning From U.S.

Ottawa.—In the fiscal year ended March 31, 1928, immigration to Canada amounted to 151,537, an increase of 5 per cent. over the previous year, when it totalled 143,991. These figures were made public by the department of immigration and colonization.

During the last 12 months, as compared with the preceding year, there has been an increase in British immigration of 1,088. Immigration from the United States has increased by 3,982, and from other countries the increase has been 2,535.

A significant feature of the statistics is the increase in immigration from the United States, which was greater than the increase from all other sources combined.

During March the total immigration to Canada was 14,685, of which 3,150 were British, 2,383 from the United States, and 9,132 from other countries.

During March 2,670 Canadians who had gone to the United States to reside returned to Canada, declaring their intention of remaining permanently in this country. The number of such returning Canadians in the fiscal year was 39,887.

Norwegians Aid Canada's Development

1. A group of Norwegians photographed after having spent a few years in Canada.
2. Young girl dressed in the costume typical of her native country.

By introducing into Canada such winter sport talent as that of the Nelson brothers in ski-jumping, and others in figure skating, Norwegians have won much favor and esteem in the eyes of Canadians.

Nels Nelsen, C.P.R. brakeman created a world's record in 1925 at Revelstoke, B.C., in making a successful leap down the mountain side of 240 feet, a distance that has not yet been surpassed. His brother, Ivin Nelsen, created the record for the Quebec jump this winter in making 114 feet, a highly creditable performance on that particular jump.

At Banff and Quebec and other winter sport centres in Canada, Norwegians, as amateurs and professionals, have contributed much to native figure skating talent. They have undoubtedly shared in the training of the outstanding Canadian skaters, many of whom have won great distinction in international and world competitions.

Out of Canada's population of 9,500,000 roughly 69,000 are of Norwegian origin. The annual average influx of immigrants from Norwegian ports is 5,000, the majority travelling by Canadian Pacific ships to Quebec and Montreal in the summer, and St. John, N.B., in the winter. These vessels are splendidly equipped for this purpose and carry as many as 900 immigrant passengers at a time, considerably exceeding the capacity of other lines.

Automobile Racer Killed

Car Overturns When Lockhart Was Seeking New Record

Daytona Beach, Fla.—Frank Lockhart, noted automobile racer, was killed almost instantly here when he lost control of his machine while racing down the beach at more than 200 miles an hour.

On his first run, Lockhart had been clocked at 147 miles an hour. The return trip was made at a speed of 193 miles. Starting South on the beach again the machine's speed was timed at 203.45 miles.

In the final trip, it was apparent that he was making more than 200 miles an hour when the racer went out of control, about 500 yards south of the beginning of the mile stretch directly in front of the grandstand.

Lockhart's machine was demolished. The car in which the famous speed king met his death was the one in which he plunged into the ocean here on February 22 last, while making an attempt to set a world's record during the annual speed trials here.

Commissioner Of Lands Dead

John W. Greenway Was Son Of Premier Of Manitoba

Ottawa.—John W. Greenway, aged 67 years, commissioner of lands, Department of Interior, and son of the late Hon. Thomas Greenway, former premier of Manitoba, died here.

He had been ill in health since the death of his wife, March 4 last.

Under Mr. Greenway's supervision some thousands of settlers took up land in the West and he was largely responsible for the success of the various plans used in providing homesteads for these settlers.

Mr. Greenway was born at Berville, Ont., at the time his father was Federal member for Huron.

The family moved to Manitoba in 1879 and after his father became premier of that province most of the management of their farm at Crystal City fell on the shoulders of the son. In 1898 John Greenway was appointed inspector of School Lands in Manitoba and became commissioner of lands under the Dominion Government in 1904.

Germans Planning New Trip Across Atlantic

Completing Plans For Another Flight To North America

Deseau, Germany.—Negotiations for another flight to North America in a Junkers plane by way of Baldoon, Ireland, have almost been completed.

The Junkers officials, however, have declined to divulge the details, but the latest Associated Press learns that the project is being engineered by Lilli Dillenz, Viennese actress who last year got as far as the Azores in the D-1230 in an effort to make the Westward passage.

The Europa, sister plane of the Bremen, which last year was compelled to land after a valiant effort to start for the U.S., will be used and, will be piloted by Johann Ristetz, who was aboard the Europa on her unsuccessful attempt.

It is understood that Fraulien Dillenz owns the Europa and that she will be a passenger on the new attempt.

In the last 12-month period revenue from the sale of beer exceeded that from the sale of wines and liquors. Beer sales totalled $6,174,092.28, while wine and spirits sales totalled $5,534,442.32.

Proceeds Go To Nurse

New York.—The proceeds of a matinee under the auspices of Sir Wilfred Grenfell in a play house here, will go to Miss Great Ferris, of Saint John, N.B., who carried supplies to the Bremen fliers on Greenly Island, and afterwards through the Saint John Telegraph-Journal and the Canadian Press, gave the first detailed first-hand account of their plight to the world. Miss Ferris is a nurse at the Fortsea Mission in Labrador.

Church Announcements

Evangelical Notes

The young people's service last Sunday evening proved to be a most interesting one. The program was built up around the subject of "Church Founders." Thus four very fine papers were given, one on "Foundation Laying," by Mr. Barnes, school teacher near Sunnyslope; a short biography of Martin Luther by Miss L. Snyder, Westcott; another on John Wesley by Miss Comfort also school teacher at Sunnyslope and "Jacob Albright," founder of the Evangelical Church by Mr. Ray Harder, Sunnyslope. A quartet and duet was furnished by Westcott young people and the local choir rendered a selection especially composed for this occasion.

The annual business meeting of the congregation came off last Tuesday evening in a very pleasing manner with full attendance. A most delicious fellowship supper was provided by the Ladies' Aid. All departmental reports were marked by the spirit of faithfulness and Miss Laura Lissmer graced the occasion by rendering a most excellent oration on "Jacob Albright."

Does this Church still exist today? Can any one denomination say that it alone is the saving Church? When alone, however, can a church member say that he is also a member of the Holy Christian Church? These and kindred questions will be answered during the course of the sermon.

1600 PHEASANTS AND 2400 EGGS ORDERED

(Calgary Herald)

1600 ring-neck pheasants and 2400 pheasant eggs are being brought in by the Calgary Fish and Game Association for its own use and for other associations and individuals, who are co-operating in the stocking undertaking in Alberta.

The Calgary association is getting 1,000 birds for setting out in this district.

The other birds and the eggs are being distributed throughout a wide range of territory covering many points in every section of the province.

Government Helps

The Alberta department of agriculture is making a sound start with 500 eggs which will be hatched at its farm at Oliver, near Edmonton. The government is also making a contribution to help the Calgary association's effort, recognizing that this is not a private but a public matter.

No More Eggs Available

No further orders can be taken for eggs as there are not available.

Orders for pheasants will be taken until such time as the visible supply is exhausted. Those who are interested are advised to put in their orders at once as this has not been a favorable spring for hatching in Oregon or Washington whence the birds and eggs are coming.

The eggs will arrive in Calgary about May 20 and the birds, which will be about 12 weeks old, about the middle of July.
